

Homework Guidelines

Rationale for Homework

- Given as a follow-up of the lesson learned during the day
- Given as an assessment to test the understanding of the students
- Reinforcement of the concepts and lessons learned during the day
- Given as a preparation for a new lesson to be taught

Benefits of Homework

Immediate effects on achievement and learning include:

- Better retention of factual knowledge
- Increased understanding
- Better critical thinking and concept formation
- Better information processing
- Regular revision and practice

Types of Homework

- Preparation of presentation in any subject
- Reading on various materials
- Research on a particular topic
- Interviews - family members, etc
- Observation - weather, experiments
- Written work
- Preparation for spelling
- Organisation of notes
- Project work (group work after school)
- E-learning

Estimated time allocated for homework for an average student per day

Level	P1, P2	P3, P4	P5, P6
Duration	1hour	$1\frac{1}{2}$ to 2 hours	2 to $2\frac{1}{2}$ hours

Expectations of Students

- Completing work neatly
- Handing in work on time
- Putting best effort in their work

Parents' Support

- Supervising child's homework
- Ensuring that child completes work given and hands it to the teacher
- Reinforcing good study habits and attitude

Parent's Signature/ Date :

